Have an idea ?

Drop an email with your idea and our consulting executive will contact you with the best business opportunity with your ideas.

Our consulting experts will provide advice to you on how the best to use technology to achieve your business objectives. It involves four key activities.

- Assessing the client's current technology infrastructure
- Exploring their goals and desired outcomes
- Recommending solutions, such as new software implementations or system upgrades
- Assisting with implementation, training, and support of the chosen solution

Discuss your idea with our technology consultant

The role of a technology consultant requires deep technical knowledge within various disciplines combined with business acumen to identify commercially viable opportunities that can be leveraged through the implementation of new technologies. Technology consultants embrace an outcome-driven approach which requires them to understand not just the client's environment but also their processes in order to identify areas where improvement could be made through leveraged investments in digital transformation initiatives.

Flexible and Scalable Hiring Models

We offer engagement models for every size and scale of project for startups, SMEs, large enterprises. Our methodologies and engagement methods, both, are dynamically adaptive and receptive to the changing trends. You can easily avail our services as per your specific needs and expect complete flexibility in engagement models.

Fixed Cost

Here the development cost remains fixed or constant. However, We never compromise on any development standards while offering this option. Key characteristics of this model

- Optimal flexibility
- Agile team
- Useful for small projects
- Complete control over the budget.

Time & Material

It enables our clients to pay for the total hours that we take in app development. However, in this model, there is no fixed time or budget. Its top characteristics include-

- Flexibility
- No clarity of requirements
- Inconsistent workflow
- Transparency & collaboration

Dedicated Team

You can hire dedicated developers for the app project and select your team. We also assist you to make real-time modifications to the existing app. Key characteristics include-

- Higher Flexibility
- Transparency & Accountability
- High cost
- More involvement
